

Cougars Play for 'Keeps' Saturday With Wagon Wheel as Grand Prize

by Mary Anne Carter

UNIVERSITY Feature Editor

Contrary to general student opinion, the wagon wheel displayed in the Joseph Smith lobby is not part of the furniture.

This old wheel, said to be one from Jim Bridger's wagon, represents four hard-fought football encounters between Utah State Agricultural College and Brigham Young University (28-27) over the Aggies allowed the Cougars to keep the wheel for the second consecutive year.

Originated in 1948 through the coordinated efforts of both the Aggie and BYU Blue Key organizations, the presentation of this award has come to mean a great deal to the winners of the annual Utah State and BYU battle. It stands as a symbol of friendly rivalry and thus a more satisfactory unity between the schools. According to the rules that were established during the 1949 game, halftime exercises in Logan, the wheel remains in the possession of the school who is victorious in the football competition for a period of one year or until it is won by the opposing team.

The record of the athletic encounters with the wheel as a trophy taken thus far is balanced. Utah State has succeeded in obtaining the emblem twice in a row, and the Cougars have been victorious twice in the last two years. A victory this year would give the Y the traditional wheel for three consecutive years and put the Cougars one game ahead of the Aggies.

Recording the past results of the game, it will be noticed that after going for 11 years without beating the BYU team on the Logan field, the Aggies in 1948 ran away with the game and the newly awarded wheel by a score of 20-7. In 1949 a score of 23-9 ruined the Y's Homecoming and their chance to acquire the wheel that year. BYU came out of the dumps to slaughter the Aggies, 34-13, in Ag territory in 1950, and then again last year made arrangements for the Wagon Wheel's lodging at the Y in a 28-27 thriller.

This year's competition to be held at Logan on Saturday will be featured by halftime exercises honoring the spoked trophy. This practice is according to tradition. In 1948 the wheel was introduced in much this same way. At that time the BYU band, Aggie band, men's and women's ROTC units and Aggie pep club saluted it in the formation of a huge spoked, hubbed wheel. The Blue Key, under the leadership of Field Fillmore, are at present arranging transport of the award to Logan for the game activities.

The beautifully varnished and polished wheel, which stands about five feet high, is decorated with four small metal plates that show the scores of both teams for that year. Take a look at that antique cylinder; notice just how artistic another metal plaque stating a third BYU victory would be.

Hit Tunes, Student Talent Highlight Varsity Show

The Virgil Camp-directed Varsity Show production of "New Moon" will move into the Joseph Smith auditorium next Thursday with a cast of top student talent and a portfolio of favorite songs.

The Sigmund Romberg-Oscar Hammerstein musical is a perennial Broadway favorite, and includes hit tunes which Americans have been humming since the show was first produced.

Production costs will be approximately $1500. The show will feature new costumes by Nancy Knudsen and sets by Earl Van Wagoner, and will be highlighted by this year's abundance of student musical talent.

Tickets will be on sale today in the Joseph Smith lobby for 60 cents per person. Student cards are not necessary and any number of tickets can be purchased by one person. There will be no general admission seats, only reserved tickets on a first come first served basis. Remember, there is a limited space in the auditorium. Tickets will be released to the students first, then the townspeople.

This will be the first Varsity Show produced at BYU in several years.

Seats will be sold only for the main auditorium, which means that there will be approximately 2700 seats available for the three performances.

HAVE YOU SEEN MY SNUFF BOX?—Brandt Curtis and Howard Putnam go through some of their lines in preparation for the Varsity show, "New Moon." The all-student production is scheduled to open next Thursday and run until Saturday. Virgil Camp will direct the production.

Plans are in the making for a Cougar pep rally and parade in Logan on Saturday, prior to the Aggie-Cat football game, according to LeRoy Porter, student president.

Further details will be given at Friday's assembly.

Coeds to Choose 'Preferred' In Next Week's Balloting

The biggest event of fall quarter, as far as Brigham Young University coeds are concerned, is just around the corner. It's the formal voting of Sadie Hawkins' Day, known as the Preference Ball.

December 6 is the date of the annual girl-asks-boy dance, which will be held this year in three places to accommodate all coeds and dates comfortably. In addition to the Smith Ballroom and Social Hall, the dance will also be held in the fieldhouse.

Theme of the ball this year will be "Crystal Ball," which will be carried out in decorations suggesting a look into the future, according to JoAnne Milligan, Seattle, Wash., general chairman. Girls will choose their dates next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday by filling out ballots in the Smith lobby. Voting will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. all three days. Senior women will have first preference over the hour their vote is cast, in case more than one girl votes for the same boy. Activity cards must be presented in order to vote, and girls are reminded that they must know the addresses of the boys they prefer. Voting for the title of "Preferred Man" will be held at the same time.

Tickets for the semi-formal affair will be on sale December 4 and 5 at the price of $1.25 per couple.

Speech Problems, Defects Handled by School Clinic

by John Roderick - UNIVERSE Staff Writer

(Editor's Note: John, a graduate student from Malad, Idaho, and a speech defect himself, gives personal testimony of speech correction.)

ooo eee ooo eee. The repeating of this phrase may go on for days, weeks and years in order to strengthen and form the impaired muscles and tissues of a speech defect.

Brigham Young University introduced speech correction to the handicapped in 1953 with Dr. Alonzo J. Morley as director. The clinic, which is now stationed in a new building on upper campus, has grown from the first 10 students over 25 today.

BLOOD DONORS GIVE 227 PINTS TO RED CROSS

The Intermountain Regional mobile blood unit, brought to the BYU campus Monday by the combined efforts of the Red Cross and AFROTC Sponsors Corps, collected 227 pints of whole blood. A steady line of donors was taken through the various steps of donation between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

"Donations fell short of the 400 pint quota but we feel the drive was very successful and are pleased with its outcome," stated Lt. Col. Jesse E. Stay, professor of air science and tactics. Col. Stay expressed his thanks to all participants and to the Sponsors for their assistance.

According to officials of the Intermountain Regional Blood Center in Salt Lake City, all blood donated by Y students will be processed and shipped to Korea. Sixty pints of whole blood were earmarked to the fighting front immediately after the completion of the drive in Provo.

damaged nerves that lead to the impaired limbs. BYU has several victims of cerebral palsy.

A speech defect should be taught to ignore the ignorant who laugh and sneer at his nasal speaking or the awkwardness of the tongue. We are all equal and all have faults. The speech defect may show his faults and shortcomings to the public, but certainly all faults are not in speech.

It is necessary that the parents as well as the speech clinics teach the child to mingle and associate with people. In the past the speech handicap was considered a court jester or town idiot. Today the speech defect is admired when he is able to overcome his social problem.

Wiser Cougars Face Aggies

ON THE SIDELINE

with Jack Nelson

That was something of a horribly efficient grid squad Chick Atkinson and the Cougars went against last Friday night. Along with being second in the nation on ground offense, the Spartans were loaded all the way around.

It seems this Lynn Alpanalp was and is something of a demon at the art of deception in ball handling among other things. He was so good that even the boys on the bench were often fooled, and that's doing some fooling. On top of that, this Alpanalp played both with the BYU pass defense. The number one pass defense in the nation yet!

From all reports, the Cougar players were just plain awesome of facing a big coast school and didn't get over their awe until the fourth quarter. Then, after Alpanalp had been removed from the game with injuries, BYU decided that yardage could be made against these Spartans after all.

All we can say about the San Jose game is, it should have been scheduled earlier to take advantage of the experience in going against some of BYU's opponents of late.

Those who have seen the blackened rolls of the Regal Recreation parlor can't help but feel greatly sorry for this loss. For BYU students, it's almost a catastrophe. Nowhere else in Provo, except for the movies, is there a place for an evening of decent recreation.

Long a center of evening student activity, Regal's offered a clean atmosphere and upheld the ideals of a Latter-day Saint community. When entering Regal's for the first time, many students were shocked to see girls playing pool, but almost all applauded the idea.

Such a loss will accentuate the Y's need for adequate student recreation, especially a student union building. A fund was started long ago, but still students have to head down the hill—or up the hill—for recreation.

Remember the music played before and after the student assembly before the Denver game a couple of weeks ago? Stuff like "On Wisconsin," "Hambler" Wreck from Georgia Tech, and fight songs from the nation over. It added greatly to the spirit of the assembly and put you in the mood for Saturday's game.

Then last night, they played Tachakowsky's or Schubert's or somebody's music. Next day we played Wyoming and got walked on. Hm-m-zum.

Spaulding Drops Cougars...

BYU Pass Defense Third; Skousen Hits Top Rank

After spending a good part of the season leading the nation in forward pass defense the Brigham Young Cougars today found themselves resting in third place in that department.

Credit for this drop can be given to BYU's victorious opponent of last weekend, San Jose State. The Spartans gained 123 yards in the air against the hapless Cougars to boost the Cat average up to 54 yards per game. Virginia and Duke now rank first and second but their margin over the Y-men is slight.

The heating the Brigs took in the air last week from the Spartans, however, was nothing compared to that which was given them on the ground. The Californians rolled for 465 yards to boost their rushing average to 261.7 and their total offense mark to 440, both second best in the nation.

The NCAA statistics also reveal that Colorado U. leads the nation in punting and our teepee-happy Set Brannan of Utah and Wyoming field general Chuck Spaulding rank 12 in the conference in scoring. Brannan has 48 counters; Spaulding 37. BYU's top scorer is Dick Felt with 24 points—all of them garnered in last week's game.

Pheasants Plentiful But Wily, Nimrods Find as Hunt Ends

Pheasant hunting drew to a close Tuesday evening at sun down with hunters generally reporting success from fair to good. Most of the birds were killed in the first two hours of hunting. Then the ringnecks became wily and stuck to the brush.

A high wind rising Saturday afternoon helped the Chinks to thwart the hunters. They laid low and had to be literally kicked from their hiding place, then when they did take to the air, they did so with the aid of a 20-mile wind.

Hot areas in this region were all along the lake front, especially Geneva, Mapleton, and Spanish Fork.

Duck season is still open and reports indicate the most birds in years. Calm weather is keeping the quackers in the fens. But with a storm, they'll be moving and offering targets to scattergunners. Duck season closes Dec. 25.

Risk Wagon Wheel in Fray; To Shoot For Third Victory

It's off to the farm this week for Brigham Young's football Cougars. Coach Chick Atkinson's gridiron warriors will face a vengeance-hungry Utah Aggie crew Saturday afternoon in a game that should be a real crowd pleaser. Both the Cougars and the Farmers are out of the conference race, but Saturday's game will tip the balance between a good and a mediocre season for both clubs.

The Cougars have a slightly better record than the Uags, but never mind. This is a game with a past!

Brigham Young won last year's game by the skin of their teeth—a touchdown in the last ten seconds of the game is a matter of fact. That one point victory has been a thistle in the Aggie corn field ever since, and the desire for vengeance is strong in Logan. On the other hand, the Cougars are anxious to win an undisputed victory this year and put an end to last year's story.

The Y suffered a resounding defeat in San Jose last Friday night, but a last quarter fourth downs rally, sparked by sophomore Dick Felt, saved the wound a little. Felt's breakaway running spoiled the whole squad, and could be a big factor in Saturday's game. Felt's addition to the starting backfield would mark about the umpteenth time this season that Atkinson has shifted his ball toters in an effort to get a combination that can both run and pass. This may be the time.

The Aggies have been stressing pass defense in drills this week, and strangely enough, passing. The Farmers have been strong on the ground this season, but have come up with no outstanding passers. Controversially, the Y, which has been strong in the air, is working to spring loose Felt and LaVon Satterfield, who showed very well on the ground at San Jose.

Today is Final Chance At Aggie Game Tickets

Tickets for the BYU-Aggie game Saturday must be picked up by 5 p.m. today at the fieldhouse ticket office.

Price of the tickets is 70 cents each. Activity cards must be presented when purchasing tickets and upon entering the game.

More than 1000 tickets are being sold at BYU for the game and it is expected that the supply will be adequate.

Scalbacks Lauded...

Frosh Raise Cougar Future Grid Hopes

by Ralph Gale
UNIVERSITY Sports Writer

In more than one respect Brigham Young's freshman football season was a big success even though the records show two defeats and a win. The losses, dealt by Utah's Papoose and Snow Junior College, were close ones and show superiority in no way with both scores being 14-12.

In their last fray with the Utah State greenings, coach Dave Crowton's charges showed late season power when going on to victory 20-14.

This season saw three future stars in action. From the frosh class came a terrific punter, a shifty runner, and a powerful defensive man. In each case all were sensational.

The kicker, Billy Meadows, time after time showed great promise in punting out for the Cougs when they were driven into embarrassing spots on offense. In one case against Utah State when the Kittens were forced to punt nine times, Meadows punted an unbelievable 89 yards to deep Utah territory helping his 33 yard punt average for the afternoon.

In the running department many new backs showed great promise but husky Alton Wade topped them all. Of the seven BYU tallies, Wade was responsible for three big ones, all of them executed in the same contest.

Naturally, all the credit doesn't go to Wade, because with those runs were some nicely laid blocks, both downfield and line moving. However, he knew just where to go at the right time, an objective all coaches strive to teach their backs.

It wasn't just in this game that Wade shined bright. In the University of Utah tussle he made several long jumps of 25 and 30 yards.

In the same contest, the local defensive star blossomed. Kerney Woodencroft, as in the other two hills, was just too much for his opponents to handle. Time and again when plays would come his way that was all the farther they got.

He refused to be moved out and when he dropped their runners he dropped them in one big bone-crushing connection.

This about summarizes the outstanding figures of this year's freshmen but other future stars will undoubtedly include Johnny Velezco, Howie Hamble, Dave Lewis, and Willard Stolorow.

A better than average record this season makes things look up for coach Chick Atkinson in the coming seasons.

BYU Intramurals Hit New Record

With an expanded program of intramural sports events, the facilities of the physical education department are being used by hundreds of men students.

More than 700 men use the facilities of the physical education department three times each week in one or more of the scheduled intramural sports.

Approximately 250 are participating in evening practice periods at the fieldhouse. These men are teams entered in the forthcoming "Frosh" basketball tourney.

Over 350 have been playing flag football on the newly completed Hawes Field, directly west of the fieldhouse.

In golf, tennis, and horshoes events, a total of 96 men enjoyed the competition.

A third-string quarterback named Witherspoon had a Louisville Ambition. He wanted to be first-string quarterback.

The opening game under the Admiring Eyes of the Number One Girl. Witherspoon knew the coach was a Hard Man in Court. So our boy, undermanned, underdressed, underpaid.

Two weeks before the opening game, the coach got a Telegram Message—"Ten reasons why Witherspoon should be first-string quarterback." First Witherspoon is recommended. Without this approach. Each day the coach received a similar Telegrams Tribune in the Sporting Quads and Grubbs' Tribune of Witherspoon, making on the tenth day with "Witherspoon knows the 1-formation is a T. Incidentally, his father is considered as dangerous a new gymnast."

"The stoned father?" Our boy, naturally. Did very well, too. Played all over the field of my Dad. He, the coach, summed up nicely, when faced in the New American League.

Nothing puts a polite stress on complaining as a Telegram "... whether you're trying to get a 'T' out of a 'C' or a 'C' out of a 'T'." Check on that Telegram at last. (Last night 8 o'clock in evening Times out of a Restaurant Paris, a Telegram is just about the world's Best Telegram. What ever your message, it'll Mean More when it goes on the Yellow Black.
